INCLUSIVE EDUCATION AS A FUNCTION OF THE POSITIVE DEVELOPMENT OF CHILDREN

December 16, 2016
Teacher Education Faculty in Belgrade

Positive development, as a new paradigm in examining, encouraging and improving children's potentials, also refers to studying beliefs and implicit theories of key actors in educational process. Within the context of the already mentioned paradigm, educational research is focused on both examining the possibility of changing belief of participants in educational process and creating and realization of programs whose purpose would be transformation of belief in that process. Starting with the fact that the change of beliefs and implicit theories of all participants in educational process is one of the most important assumptions for successful realization of inclusive education, the main goal of this conference is considering the possibilities for encouraging positive development of children in the context of inclusive education.

This conference will deal with the following topics in particular: 1) beliefs of key actors of educational process towards inclusive education; 2) preparation of teachers, preschool teachers and school counselors for inclusive education; 3) realization of inclusive education in practice: possibilities and limitations; 4) encouraging social development in the context of inclusive education.

The notification on accepting their paper, the authors will receive by October 20, 2016 after the revision.
